NEWPORT COLONY IS MAROONED BY STORM

NEWPORT, R. I., Jan. 15.—With two Newport boats, the Waverley and the Waverley, the colony of Newport Colony, which was the first of its kind in the world, was marooned by a storm today. Great Storm Paralyzes Traffic in All Big Cities of the East—Christmas Blizzard Beaten in New York.

Seven lives are known to have been lost in New York in the terrible storm, which raged along the entire North Atlantic coast last night and to-day. Two passenger trains bound from Newport to Boston are lost in the deep drifts which the snow-laden tempest has hurled on the tracks. Storm warning are displayed along the Atlantic coast from Delaware Breakwater to Eastport, Me. Millions of dollars have already been lost and railroad and trolley lines for hours almost ceased to operate. An eighty-mile gale is raging at sea and steamers and sailing craft have scudded far from the dangerous shores into the roughest abates. Cape Cod is buried many feet under the greatest snowdrift known since the fearful storm of 1858. The life-saving crews along the shores of the Cape are to-day fighting for their own lives in the blizzard, the second of the season.

Trains Are Stalled.

The passenger train which left Providence for New York at 10:30 a. m. today, was stalled in the drifts. The passenger train from New York to Boston is stalled in the drifts. Eight Inches of Snow in City.

When the force in the Boston Weather Bureau figured out the conditions today, they found that in Boston it had fallen eight inches of snow. The snow was the worst since the first of the year. The snow was the worst since the first of the year. The snow was the worst since the first of the year.

ALL TRAINS OFF SCHEDULE IN BLIZZARD

All traffic over the big railroads and the small lines arriving at the big Boston terminals and the various ferry roads was discontinued and tied up in the blizzard. The big drifts on the railroad tracks over New England made it impossible for the local and through trains to leave. Practically every train arriving at and leaving the North and South Stations was late.

No Word from South.

Reports from the South states of the New York and New England railroads were all off schedule. The reports from the South states of the New York and New England railroads were all off schedule. The reports from the South states of the New York and New England railroads were all off schedule.

RETURN TO OLD

FEARING STALE

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Former Police Commissioner Bingham in his most particular moods never dreamed of such discipline or contemplated such ideals of personal appearance as he is flustered by President Tom Lynch of the National League. And the general was a disciplinarian from birth. Lynch may not succeed in capturing the perfect umpire, but he is aiming high. Despite the fact that certain club owners "boiled" about the alleged despotism of the umpires last Summer, they were made if an incident of the annual meeting of the new "creative" umpires to enforce the "babe laws" of baseball to the letter.

Instead of making the umpire less of a disciplinarian, Lynch would give him a new weapon which was discarded last year after the umpires refused any more up to $25 for punishment.

Instead of making the umpire less of an arbiter, President Lynch would give him a new weapon which was discarded several years ago—the right to fine players any sum up to $25 for promiscuous "yawning" at the umpire. This system was in vogue when discipline was harder to preserve than it is now, and nobody

Furthermore, Mr. Kleiser said, the umpire who is called upon to make a call, and when it comes to a call on the frontiers, he is in a good second to the players. He is not a referee, but a referee having creases stitched in his uniform. Jim Lough, president of the Washington

Old System of Fines.

President Lynch's wish to revive the old system of umpire fines probably will not meet with approval, but it is understood that he is going to favor such a rule at the February meeting. Umpires are frequently fined for making a call coming from the bench. An umpire usually always tell just who does the taking, and the players are usually not allowed to argue from an important game and stand for abuse for this reason. But if a player is called out of the game, the umpire is the one of the game is handed a small fine for the first time, and if he is called a second step to a growing from the bench.

Many players do not mind discipline, but they do not like to be called out of the game, but if the umpire has the power to

SOME PEOPLE KNOW A GOOD thing when they see it; and that's the reason I am printing this young man's letter.

Straight Dope, Boston American.

It was a cinch when I printed that Worcester must knock on the Lake-side Athletic Club's door for a $100,000 come-back. I hear all sorts of tales of the boxing club, but his was the first comment I had heard that was uncomplimentary to the Webster organization.

Most of the kids come from some piker who has lost a few dollars by picking the wrong man in a boxing bout. Some men

The members of the Lakeside Athletic Club appreciate your willingness to grant the commendation of Mr. A. Stevens of Worcester. William B. Maxwell Jr. and as I am secretary of the club I don't know a member by that name. However, if there was a person by that name in the club, I am in a position to reveal him. In the first place, the Lakeside Athletic Club is not looking for outside members. It is a club for persons of athletic ability and don't raise whether they have ever heard of them or not. About the club being on the level, I will ask him if he ever had to ask a question. Weeks after an exhibition week all the regular cards had gone. The chairman, A. A. paid for the first week. Walter, who was the only thirty member going home, at a cost of $15, out of the club treasury. Another one gave a card for the second week. A man who was a member of the club for a long time, but did not give it to him. I am sure that an exhibition does not turn out to suit some the president, and asked: "I am sure that was a combination of circumstances which the managers of the L. A. A. or anybody else could not alter. I left Ambrose from an outside town to say he never got a square heel at the hands of the L. A. A. Mr. Rothman can tip the bar at 123 pounds with both his legs on, if that will be any information to him about the Lathams and King controversy. Lathams beat Ryan out of a suit at Webster with Lathams' friends before."

The other team was at Southbridge, and L. A. A. had nothing to do with it. As for the basketball, instead of the local Webster team, it was a team from the State, and the boys were very generous to the town. As one man from the State said, "Webster is the best town in the State." JOHN T. BREWSTER, Secretary of L. A. A.

GUILD URGES FEDERAL CHILD LABOR STATUTE

National legislation against child labor was urged by former Governor Gifford in a public session of the National Child Labor Council at Boston University. Mr. Gifford said in part:

"Why stop with corporation laws? We should not let the development of common sense be hindered in all matters of national moment; it is in matters of this kind that the nation is tested. It is slavery State right then to consent to the child labor law."

"The best of America is its people. The children of America are the children of the future. If we allow the children are prevented from attending school, if we allow them to be exploited, if the States with stern legislation checked and their capital go to destruction, if we allow the children to be in the coal breaking and the cotton picking, if we allow the children to be exploited in the child labor, if we allow the children, citizens in the market, whose tolling hands are severely laboring, to be exploited."

"We must ultimately stand up, not men of one State, or of another State, but men of one Nation, to the issue of slavery between the States and the Nation. We must ultimately take the children from the mills and the mines and put them in the schools, not in one State, but in all States."

national law is, however, a campaign of years. Meantime, here and now, it is obviously our duty to advance toward what we should have the courage to recognize as our ultimate goal.

FURNITURE DEALERS DISCUSS PROSPECT OF GOOD YEAR IN TRADE

Address: Federal station of Chicago is the principal guest at the longest of the year's trade show at the Furniture Institute, Boston, Association, Boston, Jan. 15-16.

William L. Shover, president of the Furniture Institute, predicted over a good business year, which was confirmed by Mr. Shover and a representative of the BOSTON AMERICAN.

Mr. Shover's remarks as indicated by the following: "I am confident that the year ahead will be a good one for the furniture business."

Reviews Past Year. Another year has come and gone, and we have seen to congratulate ourselves that business conditions have been so good. The past year has been a very successful one for the furniture business.

While we consider that the furniture business has been a very successful one, it does not mean that the business has been a very successful one. The furniture business has been a very successful one.

Prospect is Encouraging. The most serious problem confronting the furniture business is the question of labor. The working hours of the furniture business have been a very successful one.
